Description: Heiress and socialite Sonya Beaumont finds herself cornered by her mother's relentless pressure to marry and produce an heir.

Desperate to escape, she crafts a risky plan with Robert Faulkner, a man from her past whom she once saved from her high society friends' cruelty.

Robert, who has transformed from a poor scholarship student to a self-made billionaire, sees Sonya's offer as a chance to settle old scores.

He agrees to a sham marriage to deceive her mother, only for them to discover the marriage is legally binding!

Amid their make-believe honeymoon, their rekindled connection begins to deepen, stirring emotions they hadn't anticipated...

But will their blossoming connection withstand the shock when the truth about their marriage comes out?

And can they navigate the emotional whirlwind to grasp a real chance at love?
